

Apple Macintosh Quadra 700

Our highest performance desktop system, the Apple™ Macintosh Quadra™ 700 personal computer, offers a level of power that you won't find in most other systems.

To provide the ultimate in Macintosh™ responsiveness, the Quadra 700 is designed with a powerful Motorola 68040 microprocessor, faster graphics architecture, and enhanced NuBus™ and SCSI subsystems — which make it possible for the computer to run software programs up to twice as fast as the previously fastest Macintosh — the Macintosh IIx. You'll appreciate the speed of the Quadra 700 whenever you open a window, search and sort — and even more when the computer redraws complex graphics, recalculates intricate spreadsheets or reformats large documents.

Many built-in features also give you fast, direct access to networks and peripheral equipment. For example, you can connect the Quadra 700 directly to high-speed Ethernet and LocalTalk™ networks without having to buy extra cards. Plug any Apple monochrome or colour monitor to your system; the Quadra 700 works with all Apple displays. It also supports up to 24 bits of colour, offering you photographic-quality images to work with. And you can use the nine built-in ports for instant access to printers, scanners, high-capacity disk drives and other peripheral equipment.

For additional flexibility, the Quadra 700 supports up to 68 megabytes of RAM, so you can work with larger files and many open applications. And two NuBus expansion slots make it easy to add specialised co-processor, media integration and data acquisition cards.
